Good morning,

Overnight the Government has released a revised list of 'Key workers'. The guidance is very clear – you should only continue to send your child to school if there is no other way of providing at home care for your child.

Please see below the 'Key worker' list.

We need to hear from you today by phone if:

- o You think you will fall into the Government's 'key worker' definition and
- o You would need to take up any offer of a school place through the closure

We would probably need documentary evidence of your role as a key worker – an email or note from an employer or similar. You do not need to phone us again if you already have done so.

The list of key workers:

- NHS workers
- Police, armed forces, prison officers
- Fire Service
- Supermarket delivery drivers
- Transport workers
- Food production workers
- Journalists
- Social workers
- Care workers in residential or day settings

This is not an exhaustive list. Please see the following link for more advice:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/coronavirus-covid-19-maintaining-educational-provision/guidance-for-schools-colleges-and-local-authorities-on-maintaining-educational-provision>

We will be calling everyone back today who has already made us aware that they may need their child/ren to come to school on Monday.

Best wishes

Miss Godfrey
